Right-to-lifers inundate Senate hearing to oppose repeal of Wisconsin's abortion ban

February 28, 2008

Hello Mary,

Babies to octogenarians - over 500 people – united in the capital yesterday to put the Senate on notice that it can't repeal Wisconsin's abortion ban . The general theme of the day's testimony was abortion not only kills unborn children but it deeply hurts women who have abortions.

The most riveting testimonies came from women who've suffered - for years and even decades after their abortion with the emotional and physical consequences of their decision. One woman told her harrowing story of how she almost died after her abortion and was grateful to be alive to testify. Another woman related her heart wrenching story of bleeding profusely after her abortion and actually delivering her unborn baby in her shower! The common thread through all their stories was the downward vortex of post-abortion drug and alcohol abuse, broken relationships, and suicidal thoughts that consumed their lives. The emotional intensity of their stories gripped the room.

Many teens and college age women also testified. The young women spoke of their sadness, knowing that one fourth of their generation has been lost to abortion. They also did an excellent job of refuting the old and worn arguments of the pro-aborts.

Wisconsin Right to Life wishes to thank the over 500 generous people who took time out of their busy life to represent those who have no voice – the unborn. They are genuine right-to-life heroes. As champions of the unborn and their mothers, they made their mark in history yesterday as people unwilling to sit silently as this tragedy continues.

Sadly, yesterday's hearing felt like time had been turned back 40 years. Wisconsin Right to Life got its start 40 years ago when the pro-aborts attempted exactly the same thing - to repeal Wisconsin's abortion ban, s.940.04! We anticipate a floor vote on this measure before March 13. They weren't successful 40 years ago and we can't let them be successful today.

Now we need YOU to be a hero by speaking for the unborn. Wisconsin Right to Life will continue to provide leadership to keep this ban (s.940.04) in place so that once Roe v. Wade is reversed Wisconsin can immediately shut down the abortion mills. But, we can't do it without YOU. YOU need to contact your state Senator immediately and urge him or her to defeat SB398 and save Wisconsin's abortion ban, s.940,04.
